

TRANSCRIPT PREPARED BY THE CLERK OF THE LEGISLATURE
Transcriber's Office

March 20, 1998 LB 1175

So if I get antagonized enough, this may turn into a clinic on motions and maybe we would take a vote on a motion to recess and it would fail. Now I wouldn't make that motion because it might succeed, oh, but if it's a recess we'd have to come back. Maybe somebody would want to reconsider that motion. But in any case, I have to make crystal clear for the record what is going on here. I'm not just serving notice to my colleagues, I'm serving notice to the lobby. They think that they have ways of getting things done, but I know everything that every lobbyist has planned. And I would advise them if they don't want their plans known, don't tell anybody else. And I'll give the quote that Senator Tyson gave me from Stonewall Jackson, if the sleeves of my coat knew my plans, I would burn the coat. So the lobbyist had best not even tell his coat sleeves. But they've been around here a long time. They get information that's supposed to be confidential. Why do they think I will not know? People have ways of trying to get on the good side of me so they tell me things. I can't read minds. I saw where Kreskin, he's called "The Great Kreskin," he contacted the U.S. Justice Department and offered to settle all of this problem that that fellow named Starr with two Rs in his name is trying to do with his grand jury. He said, just let him talk to all these people because he can read people's minds and he'll know right when he talks to them who's telling the truth. And he has guaranteed that any secrets that bear on national security he will not reveal. He will keep those state secrets. That's what "The Great Kreskin" said he would do for the country. And so reporters contacted a spokesman for the White House and asked him, are you going to accept Kreskin's offer which, by the way, he signed "ESpecially yours", with the ESP capitalized. And this spokesman for the White House said, well, he already knows our answer. I guess if he really does ESP he did know. Well, what I'm suggesting here is that lobbyists are not going to run the rest of the days in this Legislature. They may think they are. So if any of you all fall into the slimy, grimy clutches of these lobbyists and think somehow they can guarantee you passage of a bill if you do their work for them, forget it because I'm in a mood now to not let things get by easily that would not have been the case two or three days ago. In fact, yesterday is when it started. Yesterday is when they really got on the fighting side of me. But I didn't offer an amendment on the budget bill today and I didn't comment on it because I had
